WOMAN AND HOME

Under this department receipts, ideas, experiences and information of interest are solicited

Potato Soup

3 cups hot rice or mashed potatoes.
1 quart milk.
3 slices onion.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour (rice flour or corn flour).
1 1/2 teaspoons salt.
Celery salt.
Pepper.
Cayenne.
1 teaspoon chopped parsley.

Potato Loaf

2 cups mashed potatoes.
4 tablespoons minced onion.
2 tablespoons green pepper or pimento pepper.
1/2 cup canned tomatoes.
1 egg.
1 teaspoon salt.
1-3 cup ground peanuts.

Mix the ingredients well together. Turn the mixture into a buttered baking dish. Brush it over with melted butter or drippings. Bake it in a moderate oven for 25 minutes.

Potato Rolls (3 Dozen)

3 cups mashed potatoes.
4 1/2 cups flour.
2 teaspoons salt.
2 tablespoons corn syrup.
1 cake compressed yeast softened in 1/2 cup water.
1/2 cup milk scalded.
2 tablespoons fat.

Add the hot milk to the potato and when the mixture has cooled until it is lukewarm, add the softened yeast and other ingredients. Allow the dough to rise to double its bulk. Work it down and let it rise until it has increased in size by about one-half. Then shape the rolls, let them rise until they are double in size and bake them in a hot oven.

Potato Puff

Add beaten whites of eggs to mashed potatoes (2 eggs to 6 medium-sized potatoes.) Pile the mixture lightly in a baking-dish and bake it in the oven until it puffs and browns. The yolks of eggs and one-fourth cup of grated cheese also may be added.

Scalloped Potatoes and Cheese

Arrange a layer of sliced raw or boiled potatoes in a greased baking dish and sprinkle with grated cheese. Repeat until the dish is nearly full. Pour milk over the whole, about one-half cup to every three potatoes. Skim milk may be used. Bake in a moderate oven until done. The length of time required depends upon whether the potatoes are raw or boiled and whether the baking dish used is deep or shallow. Boiled potatoes baked in a shallow dish will take only 20 minutes. Raw potatoes in a deep dish may take as much as 1 1/2 hours.

Relatives butt in where devils fear to tread.

Experience, the dear teacher, is not always beloved.

No liquid.
3 tablespoons fat.
1 teaspoon salt.
5 tablespoons baking powder.
1 2-3 cups wheat flour.
1 1/2 cups mashed potatoes.

Sift dry ingredients, work in fat and add mashed potatoes. This makes a very stiff dough. Roll one-half inch thick and cut into biscuits. Bake 30 to 35 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

Potato Biscuit

Using two cups of flour instead of three.
1 tablespoon liquid.
3 tablespoons fat.
1 teaspoon salt.
5 tablespoons baking powder.
2 cups flour.
1 1-3 cup mashed potatoes.

Sift together dry ingredients, mix in the fat and add potatoes and liquid. This makes a very stiff dough. Roll one-half inch thick and cut into biscuits. Bake 30 to 35 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

PREVENTING SCALD IS EASY

Occasional Renewal of Air of Storage Room is Recommended by Department of Agriculture.

Apple scald of green and ripe fruit in storage can be entirely and easily prevented by an occasional renewal of the air of the storage room, according to the United States department of agriculture. Apples are living organisms which breathe and, like other living things, have ventilation requirements which, if not met, lead to smothering. Accumulations of carbon dioxide (carbonic acid gas) produced by the apples in storage, the lack of air movement in the storage room, and the depositing of moisture on the fruit are all declared to be factors that may play a part in the production of scald. Experiments indicate that high humidities may be maintained in storage without the development of scald, and prove conclusively that an occasional renewal of the air of the storage room will completely prevent the disease. Scalded fruit is more mealy and poorer in flavor than unscalded. Scald, in addition to rendering the fruit unsightly and reducing its market value, renders the apples extremely susceptible to certain storage rots.

Did you ever read the fine print in one of your insurance policies? If not, you have some surprises waiting for you, perhaps unpleasant ones. Many a man has lost his reputation because he failed to advertise after securing it.

I have loved you from the hour That my lips first pressed your brow Ever tenderly, but never Quite as tenderly as now. All I have is His who gave it, Whatsoever He bids me do; Go, my boy, where duty calls you And my heart shall follow you.

I shall miss you in the springtime, When the orchard is in bloom, When the smiling face of Nature Bathes its beauty in perfume; When the birds are sweetly singing By the door and on the wing, I shall think of you who always Used to pause and hear them sing.

Long will seem the waning hours Through the drowsy summer day With my boy exposed to dangers On a soil far, far away. But my spirit shall not murmur, Though a tear bedim my view, Go, my boy, where duty calls you, And my heart shall follow you.

You will come and see your mother— Come and kiss her as you say; From her lips receive the blessing That shall cheer you on your way; From her fond embrace go forward To resist your country's foe With the comforting assurance That your mother bade you go.

Now may heaven protect and bless you Holy angels guard your way, Keep your spirit from temptation And your feet from going astray. To your mother ever faithful, To your country ever true, Go, my boy, where duty calls you And my heart shall follow you.

The ice cream social at Dildine church Friday evening netted over $17 for the piano fund. A committee has been appointed to investigate and purchase a piano for the church. About 20 people of this charge gathered at Easton church Thursday evening for prayer for our armies and our allies. It was a touching service.

Children's day will be observed at Dildine at 11:30 and at Orleans at 8 o'clock next Sunday. Everybody invited.

F. L. Currie and Mr. Hawkins and families ate dinner in the Orleans church basement Decoration day. We are glad to see these people back among us occasionally.

The baccalaureate address will be given in Orleans church Sunday evening, June 16, to the 38th and 10th grade graduates of Orleans school. The commencement address will be delivered by Rev. R. J. Slee in this church Tuesday evening, June 18.

Mrs. Geo. Hoyt is improving, we are glad to note. That automobile is helping wonderfully in doing the pastoral work on this charge.

A call at the home of Mrs. Joseph Howard finds her doing nicely.

A Mother's Advice.

The following piece of poetry has been brought in to the Banner-News office by a man who read it and, realizing the feeling of regret and pride which mothers feel for their sons in war and desiring of giving it publicity, has asked us to publish it. The author of the beautiful article is unknown.

Go, My Boy, Where Duty Calls.
Go, my boy, and heaven bless you! I have read each precious line Of your heart's responsive throbbing To a higher call than mine. God has spoken—you have heard Him. And though tears these eyes bedim, Your affection for your mother Shall not mar your love for Him.

Could I bid you stay from fondness When the ever-ruling hand Marks your path to duty clearly For the safety of your land? No! 'tis yours to be a patriot, And 'tis mine to be as true; Go, my boy, where duty calls you And my heart shall follow you!

Go in faith and feel protection In a power supreme, divine; Should a bullet pierce your body It will also enter mine. Do I think of this in sorrow? Does my love sad fears renew? Do I tremble at the prospect? No, my son, no more than you.

Dear to me is every pathway Where your precious feet have trod; But I give you fondly, freely, To my country and my God. You and I shall never falter In the work we have to do; Go, my boy, where duty calls you And my heart shall follow you.

I shall pray for you—how often— Through the waking hour of morn, Through the labor of my household And when night is coming on. If a mother's prayers can keep you, 'Mid the dangers you incur, God will surely bring you back Again to happiness and her.

I will never doubt the goodness That has kept you until now, That has kept the evil from your brow. Heart, the shadow from your brow. And I know that it shall keep You in the path you must pursue, Go, my boy, where duty calls you And my heart shall follow you.

If my boy were less a hero, Less the man in thought or deed, I had less to give my country In her trying hour of need; And I feel a pride in knowing That to serve this cause divine From the hearthstone goes no braver Heart than that which goes from mine.

I have loved you from the hour That my lips first pressed your brow Ever tenderly, but never Quite as tenderly as now. All I have is His who gave it, Whatsoever He bids me do; Go, my boy, where duty calls you And my heart shall follow you.

I shall miss you in the springtime, When the orchard is in bloom, When the smiling face of Nature Bathes its beauty in perfume; When the birds are sweetly singing By the door and on the wing, I shall think of you who always Used to pause and hear them sing.

Long will seem the waning hours Through the drowsy summer day With my boy exposed to dangers On a soil far, far away. But my spirit shall not murmur, Though a tear bedim my view, Go, my boy, where duty calls you, And my heart shall follow you.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
The incidents of our special lesson verses are Jesus' sorrowful announcement that one of them would betray him, and his eating the passover, and institution of the supper by which his redeemed show forth his death till he come; but we must try to consider the whole chapter. Verses 12 to 31 take us to the upper room where they kept the passover; and all that he did and said that last evening that he spent with them before he suffered is recorded more fully in Luke 22:7-38 and John 13 to 17 inclusive. The rest of the lesson chapter tells of Gethsemane and his arrest and his being brought before the high priest and the council. May the Lord give us what he would have us to receive from this wonderful portion. As to the place where they kept the passover, some one has suggested that it may have been the home of Mary the mother of Mark, whose husband was probably still alive at that time, and Mark may have been the man bearing the pitcher of water. (See an article on page 4 of July, 1917, Kingdom Tidings.) Luke says that Peter and John were sent to prepare the passover. One thing that interests me much in this record, as well as in that of the ass' colt, is that they found it just as he told them (vs. 16; Luke 19:32); and my heart is often saying, "I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me" (Acts 27:25). He had a great desire to eat that passover with them, for he would not eat it again until fulfilled in the Kingdom of God (Luke 22:15-16). This leads us back to the night in Egypt when the nation was born, and when there was safety only where he saw the blood, and points us onward to the rebirth of the nation at his coming according to Mic. 7:15, 16; Jer. 16:14, 15. Some of the sad events in that room that evening were the presence of the betrayer and the strife among the disciples as to which of them should be the greatest (vs. 18-21; Luke 22:24). He was always a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief, misunderstood, unknown, hated, persecuted, and all for us, that being redeemed by his blood, we might follow in his steps. As a servant washing their feet he gave them an example of the lowliest service and Paul caught the right attitude when he spoke of himself as "Serving the Lord with all humility of mind" (Acts 20:19).

In our brief space we hardly dare venture on anything from the wonderful discourse and prayer of John 14 to 17, but we venture to suggest that it should be our constant aim in all things and at all times to glorify God; that under all circumstances we may know his peace and have untroubled hearts, and be maintained by the assurance.

ance that he longs to have us see and share his glory (John 14:1-3, 13, 14, 27; 16:33; 17:4, 22-24). Do not fail to lay to heart his words concerning the one whom he has sent us in his stead till he shall come again, the Holy Spirit, the Comforter and Teacher and abiding friend (John 14:26, 17, 26; 15:26; 16:7, 8).

Now let us see him in Gethsemane, not forgetting to listen to the hymn of praise they sang before they left the upper room (vs. 26-42). Note the boasting of the disciples and his sorrowful reference to Zech. 13:7. He left eight of the disciples just inside the garden and took a little farther with him Peter and James and John; then he left them and withdrew about a stone's cast farther, and knelt down and fell on his face and prayed that if it were possible this cup might pass from him. This cup had no reference to Golgotha, but to the seeming possibility of the agony in the garden killing him and his not reaching Golgotha. He prayed to be delivered from death in the garden, and he was heard and answered, and an angel strengthened him. This is to me all very clearly stated in Heb. 5:7, taken with the facts in the gospels. How much we all, as well as the weak and unsympathetic disciples, need his admonition to watch and pray, for though the spirit may be ready, the flesh is weak (vs. 38).

The kiss of Judas, the arrest, the leading him away as a prisoner to the high priest, the forsaking of him by all the disciples is all most pitiful reading; and when we remembered that he suffered all this willingly to fulfill Scripture, for they could not touch him if he had not allowed them to do so, it is all too wonderful for us to grasp. I like to see him going forth to meet those who came to take him, saying to them: "Whom seek ye?" and when they answered, "Jesus of Nazareth," he said just two words: "I am," and they all went backward and fell to the ground (John 18:4-8). How apt we are to blunder as Peter did with the sword, and need him to remedy the blunder (vs. 47, 48). The young man of vs. 51, 52 was probably Mark himself. The abuse he suffered at the hands of the chief priests and council, the false witnesses, the smiting of the servants, their blinding him and spitting upon him and buffeting him, is all too awful; but may our hearts truly say, "All for me," and may all this on our behalf lead us to be, if possible, more devotedly his. This same Jesus will come again in glory (vs. 62) and we shall come with him (Col. 3:4).

WATCH CLOSE FOR CLINGERS
Dried-Up, Diseased Fruits That Stick to Branches Carry Disease Over Until Spring.

It is not enough to destroy all of the insect-laden and fungus-disease-infested fruit that drops before or during fruit harvest by feeding same to the hogs, sheep, or other stock. There are quite often dried-up, diseased fruits that cling to the branches, for weeks after harvest-time, which carry the spores (germs) of disease over until spring and then scatter them broadcast by wind, insects, and birds. There is just as much in preventing trouble as curing it.

PREVENT PEACH LEAF CURL
Best Plan Is to Spray Trees While in Dormant Condition—Use Boiled Lime-Sulphur.

The method almost universally in use as a means of preventing peach leaf curl is that of spraying the trees while in the dormant condition. A number of sprays so applied will give almost perfect control, but the one commonly used is boiled lime-sulphur, as it is also effective in controlling the San Jose scale.

SMYRNA

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Condon, Mrs. Lee and Charlie Carlson were Sunday visitors at the home of John Kellogg in Lowell. Mr. Kellogg has been sick several months but is now able to get around on crutches.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Compton, Mrs. Barry and Olive Insley were visitors at Elder Ellis' Sunday.

Quite a number from Smyrna attended the 8th grade exercises at Ion a Saturday evening.

Little Donald Gasper broke his arm while playing last Sunday evening. He did not make much of a fuss over it so it was not noticed until Tuesday when it began to swell. He is now carrying it in a sling.

Mrs. Geo. Hoppough is leaving for Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., to visit her son, Captain Clayton Hoppough and his wife.

The Lady Maccabees served dinner to about 150 people Decoration day. Next Sunday, June 8, at 2:30 in the afternoon the Lady Maccabees will observe their memorial Sunday at Maccabee hall. The address will be given by Elder Ellis. Let every officer make a special effort to be present as well as every member. Everybody welcome.

Howard Insley and Mrs. Ed. Insley were in Grand Rapids Tuesday.

Frank and Royal Davis and Cora Hoppough were in Harvard Friday night playing for a Red Cross dance.

Mrs. Martha Skellenger is a guest of Eleanor Dicken for a few days.

Mr. Van Harlingen of Chicago is here spending his vacation with his wife and daughter.

The Red Cross ladies of Otisco township will serve supper for the dance Friday night. They will also serve lunch to any who wish* to buy their supper at 6 o'clock. The bill of fare consists of sandwiches, cake, pickled jelly, potato salad, baked beans, cottage cheese and ice tea for the sum of 25c each. Let everyone help the Red Cross by coming in and buying their supper.

Dr. Penton is some better. Dr. Votey and wife of Grand Rapids were Sunday callers.

Dental Talks

We extract deeply embedded roots and badly decayed teeth without the pain and without sleep producing drugs to produce unconsciousness and no bad after effects like the old methods. We make full sets of teeth without plate covering roof of mouth and need none of the natural teeth for attachment. Call and read the many testimonials from those who know.
